NEWS AND COMMENTS.

ONE of the most remarkable instances of the lack of reliability in labor is the present strike on the part of cotton pickers in one or two of the Southern States. It has been orthodoxy heretofore to say that capital commanded labor; irresponsible labor seems to have the "whip-hand" of cotton producers in the South: but, whether they may be fair representatives of capital, is another matter.

THE New York Herald suggests that, in consideration of the brutum fulmen of RUSSELL HARRISON, in making a direct effort to borrow money of Gen. FITZGERALD, it would be well for his father to give him a trip to Europe. We are not authorized by the Herald to make any further suggestions; but commonsense would dictate the inquiry: why should not the President accompany his son RUSSELL—and on a prolonged trip? The country would not miss him.

"POLITENESS pays." This is an old adage, but it was never more substantially exemplified, perhaps, than in the case of a Mr. HARRIS, of Rocky Mount, who has just been presented with $100,000—a bequest in acknowledgment of his courtesy in showing attention to a wealthy Northerner, who some time ago was in that part of North Carolina, and given to bird-killing and fox-hunting. It is stated that Mr. HARRIS has gone North to receive the bequest. We hope that he will find that "politeness pays."

THE death of Col. SAM'L B. PICKENS, at Charleston on the 17th inst., takes one more from the ranks of the gallant soldiers of the Confederate army. He was a Colonel in Lee's Army at the age of 25 years—probably the youngest Southern soldier holding that rank. His services were distinguished, as he was twice mentioned in General Orders for bravery. Col. PICKENS was a member of a very distinguished South Carolina family—the name of PICKENS being a "household word" in that State, whose history is so full of great men.

"WE are gratified at seeing that the earnings of the Penitentiary for the quarter just ended were $11,000 in excess of the expenses. That is a showing which will please the people, and it is an evidence of the competency and efficiency of the administration." May be. It is certainly some evidence of "the competency and efficiency of the administration," but it lacks a great deal of being an argument for the wisdom of the penitentiary system. In a poor State like North Carolina $44,000 annually taken for the State out of the trades is a serious leak from the channels of industry.

LYNCH law is terrible, but the crimes calling for this swift punishment are so much more deadly to the peace and good order of our social system that the time will soon come when good men will not only excuse but justify lynch law. Think for a moment of a mulatto assaulting a young married woman, in company of six others, on the campus of the University of Virginia! Think of the horrible, fiendish lust that carried the wretched fiend to this stretch of desperate boldness in the execution of his purpose! We do not hesitate to say that his incarceration was a mistake. He should never have had the shelter of a jail.

THE late dispatches from Washington inform all those who are interested in Washington news that Mr. BLAINE's house is being made ready for his occupancy about October 1st. The average reader does not note anything particularly signficant in that, but we will venture a good deal that Mr. HARRISON does. In the next six months Secretary BLAINE is going to develop the most remarkable physical and mental health for a man at death's door that ever was seen—and the approved and orthodox of the present administration are destined to be greatly disturbed thereat. Mr. BLAINE is preparing to claim his reciprocity policy as his own.

THIS is what the Democratic party of New York said at Saratoga on the 16th inst.: "The following is the silver plank of the platform: The Democratic party of the State of New York, in convention assembled, renews the pledges of its fidelity to the Democratic faith, and as regards the national issues reaffirms the doctrines of the national platform of 1884 and 1888, endorsed by the popular votes in those years and so overwhelmingly ratified by the popular verdict in the Congressional elections of 1890. We now, as then, steadfastly adhere to the principles of sound finance. We are against the coinage of any dollar which is not of the intrinsic value of every other dollar of the United States. We therefore denounce the new Sherman silver law under which one-tenth of our gold stock has been exported and all our silver output is dammed up at home as a false pretence, as an artful hindrance of the return to free bimetallic coinage, and as a tendency to only produce a change from one kind of monometalism to another." We have purposely cut short off the resolution. The res gestæ is good enough for Southern Democrats. But, in our humble way, we have a word or two to say. While New York State is without fault in the enunciation of a platform, it is always a great big thorn in the side of Democracy in its persistent pushing of New York men. Its 36 electoral votes are nothing more than 36 electoral votes in the college; and the outlook seems now to be that if both HILL and CLEVELAND are pushed the integrity of the party will be sacrificed. We honor Tammany: it is our idea of pure Democracy, but Tammany must remember that the South has long ago ceased to take a back seat. The salvation of the Democratic party in 1892 rests in the selection of a Western man.

HOW GREVY WAS RUINED.

An Account of the "Wilson Affair" that Drove the President into Retirement.

New York Sun.]

The troubles of ex-President Grevy of France began with his second term. M. Grevy had married early in life, and soon afterward his wife died, leaving him one child, his daughter Alice. All his affection centred about her, and she ruled him absolutely. It is said that he was not at all pleased when M. Daniel Wilson asked her hand in marriage. But M. Wilson had already won Mlle. Grevy's heart, and her father allowed her to marry him.

For many years before his election to the presidency M. Grevy had kept house with the aid of a peasant woman, who was comely and good-hearted, but very ignorant. No one can explain how it happened, but he at some time married this woman. But he kept the fact so secret that his nearest political friends thought him a widower at the time of his election to the first office of the nation. Then Mme. Grevy appeared, and created a good deal of amusement by her strange way of keeping up the dignity of a president's wife. She never pronounced foreign names properly, and was remarkable in her conversational endeavors generally. But she was so honest and amiable and unaffected that she afterward became as popular in a way as was "le pere Grevy."

The domestic household of the President was made up of this wife, his daughter Alice and her husband, M. Wilson, and their infant daughter, whom M. Grevy adored. This M. Wilson was notorious for his escapades, both before and after his marriage, and had it not been for the child M. Grevy would, in all probability, have refused to endure him. As it was, M. Wilson had access to all parts of the house, was able to get at all official secrets, and, through his wife, exercised considerable control over the old President.

All Paris soon began to talk about Wilson's fortunate speculations carried on through a knowledge of state secrets, but no one suspected the scandalous nature of some of these speculations. At last the police arrested a notorious woman, who was the intermediary in a traffic in the ribbons of the Legion of Honor, which the President of the Republic is supposed to confer upon people of distinction. Through her General Caffarel and some other high officers of the army were implicated.

Wilson was put on trial, but escaped through a technicality. The trail of dishonor led painfully close to President Grevy; so close that at the time—the spring and summer of 1887—the general belief was that Grevy himself had been cognizant of the traffic in the honor of the republic, and had profited by it. Paris was on fire, and the ministry was in a tumult. At last, just as everything was going to pieces, Grevy resigned. This was on December 2nd, 1887.

It is certain that M. Grevy's misfortunes were due to the failure of his powers of mind in the last years of his administration. Before the exposure of Wilson he had begun to show a childishness and irritability, a loss of mental balance and an uncertain grasp of events, which were in contrast to the earlier years of his administration. After his downfall he retired to his estate near Montsous-Vaudres, where he had been wont to pass the summer months. His mind and body failed rapidly, and the last two years of his life have been most sad. The French people recovered their belief in his honesty, but he did not recover from the disgrace so utter and so untimely.

"Sheeny."

Centenary.]

Our Hebrew fellow-citizens are naturally inclined to resent the definition given to the term "sheeny" in the Century dictionary, where it is put down as "a sharp fellow, therefore a Jew." As a matter of fact, "sheeny" doesn't mean a sharp fellow at all, and it is applied to Jews, not as a term of disrespect, but in a jocular way. Why it should be incorporated in a dictionary we do not know, but perhaps the lexicographers know.

The origin of the term—or, rather, the origin of this jocular application—is a humorous anecdote old enough to be classed as a piece of American folk-lore. An Irish saloon-keeper named Michael Sheeny had for his next-door-neighbor in business a Hebrew, who kept a variety store. Sheeny's saloon was a very lively place, the scene of numerous rows, which attracted the attention of the police. These officials, according to the story, were also Irishmen, and, when there was a row in Sheeny's saloon, they satisfied their sense of justice by raiding the Hebrew's store, and carrying him off to the lock-up. This went on until finally, when there was a row in the saloon, the Hebrew would stand on the sidewalk and cry out that his name was Sheeny, hoping thereby to escape arrest.

This is a bold outline of the old joke. There are several versions of it, and the idea, we believe, has been utilized in one of the old farces that used to follow a theatrical performance.

We can't all be lexicographers, but professors who compile a dictionary ought to know a word from a joke. "Sheeny" is no word at all unless its real meaning is given.

Roses in China.

In no other part of the world has the culture of roses been brought so nearly to perfection as in China. The rose gardens of the Emperor of the Flowery Kingdom are gorgeous. The revenue obtained yearly from the oil of roses and rose water is enormous, and a great addition to the imperial coffers. Only the members of the royal family and the nobility, high military officials, mandarins, etc., are allowed to have any of the attar of roses in their dwellings.

THE MORAL CODE.

It Damns One—But the Other!

A very level-headed exchange has the following: "Somebody makes a mistake. Two folks make a mistake. A beautiful woman is sacrificed—ruined and outcast. She was not impure but with the impurity of a healthful physical nature which makes such a lovely and innocent being fit victim for the tempter.

"A society man smiles at the result, and the world smiles back. Lovely women dance with him, and respectable men present him to their wives, and introduce him to the best women they know, without the formality of asking permission. All doors open to the man, but the woman can get no lodging this side the house of the prostitute. There seems to be nothing wrong in American society in touching the hand of the rake in the drawing-room or promenade, but immaculate skirts are closely drawn when 'Magdalen' passes on her weary way. O consistency, thou jewel, hath God given thee over to rust and decay?"

The above cuts the truth right to the centre. It knocks the bark off the policy of society as now constituted—setting up one sinner without protest, and damning the other. It is a poor social law which gives a man a nice badge and a woman an ugly brand. It is a mighty poor religion that closes its eyes and trembles when an unfortunate woman approaches, and sustains, honors and associates with the author of her ruin. Religion, without charity mercy and forbearance, is supremely contemptible. It is a false system of society which slams the door in the face of the "unfortunate," to cultivate and cherish the friendship of a man with a foul moral record.

These sad things that occur to shock humanity, to ruin lives, and make hearts bleed, are made all the worse by long, slimy tongues—the property every community possesses. There are men and women, God pity them, who enjoy gouging and shaking a fearful sensation to a greater degree than the birds God made for foulness. At first it is behind the door and parting with a friend, with these words: "Don't mention it eh?" or the one charges the other: "Don't tell this, whatever you do," etc., until the whole community has a charge to keep—agoing.

Then society bursts its eyes and turns its back, and some, who set themselves up as followers of Him who taught love, charity, forbearance and help to the weak, etc., let their horror go to seed in coldness and neglect, and even add fuel to the flames that burn.

The time will come when no more consideration will be given one than to another, and when the human heart, filled with true christianity, will try to reclaim instead of, in coldness, neglect and even persecution, drive fallen humanity to lower depths.

The Terrible Prison Where Even the Guards are Prisoners.

Some fifty miles from St. Petersburg, upon the lake of Ladoga, there is a small granite island, entirely occupied by a fortress, says Free Russia. It is Schlusselburg, the dreadful prison of state—worse than the French Bastile, worse than the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, with its Troubetzkoi and Aleneevsy ravelins and its underground cells. The most resolute of the revolutionists, men and women who have taken part in active conspiracies, whom it is not considered safe to keep in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, are sent there.

The absence of any inhabitants except those employed in the service renders it possible to isolate prisoners to a degree unattainable anywhere else. No one is allowed to land upon the island. Sentinels have orders to shoot any one who approaches. If the near relatives of a prisoner inquire concerning him at the police department in St. Petersburg, they are sometimes told "alive," or "dead;" sometimes no answer is given. The soldiers and guards are themselves prisoners, who mingle only with each other, and are carefully watched on the rare occasions when they are allowed to make a visit to the mainland. It was possible to establish secret communications with even the most jealously guarded ravelins of the St. Petersburg fortress. But the fortress of Schlusselburg remains dumb, like the grave it is.

The journal continues: Though some of the best known men of the revolution party, in whom the greatest interest was felt among the whole body of revolutionists, were kept there, we rarely could even tell whether they were alive or dead. A few months ago, however, our friends in Russia received some news from this place of endless misery. It is very brief—only such as can be conveyed upon a bit of paper smuggled with the greatest danger through some friendly hand. It merely tells which of the prisoners are dead and which are still alive. But even this summary is eloquent enough. We learn from it that out of the fifty-two prisoners sent there in the course of the last eight years, 20, or about 40 per cent., are already dead. Several of those who survive should be added to the list of the dead. They are insane, and have lost what is as precious, if not more precious, to a man than life.

Humanity in War.

It is related of Henry IV., the first French king of the House of Bourbon, that while besieging Paris, at that time held against him by the Catholic League, he was urgently advised to take the city by assault before troops daily expected from the King of Spain could arrive to succor the leaguers. He knew that by a determined assault he could carry the works before him, but he protested against it on the principle of humanity.

"I will not," he said, "expose the capital of my country to the miseries and horrors which must follow such an event. I will show to my people that I am their father, and I will follow the example of the true mother who presented herself before Solomon. I will not gain the prize through the slaughter of innocent persons."

In time, Henry reduced the city with the loss of but few lives. In a subsequent conversation upon the subject of the number slain, he exclaimed:

"If it were in my power I would give anything but my kingly honor to redeem those citizens, and to have the satisfaction of informing posterity that I had subdued Paris without spilling a drop of blood."

"CROSSING THE RIVER."

An Historic Picture Illustrating an Incident of the West Virginia Campaign.

Richmond Dispatch.]

Ramos displays in his window a war picture that is peculiarly interesting in respect to the subject, as well as from the beauty of the work. William Washington, who painted the "Funeral of Latane," "Jackson at Winchester" and other fine war subjects, was on General Floyd's staff in the West Virginia Army at the time General Lee commanded that department, in the autumn of 1861.

Rosecrans secretly withdrew from the front of the main Confederate force, and, making a forced march of a hundred miles, suddenly fell on Floyd's Brigade at Carnifax Ferry, on the Gauley River, fifteen miles above Kanawha Falls. The Confederates repulsed the attack of overwhelming numbers all day, the deadly mountain rifles, with which most of them were armed, doing such work that the enemy was very badly punished, and at night Floyd retreated across the river, with the loss of only a few men. The brigades of Wise and Floyd were then withdrawn to a spur of Big Sewell Mountain, and the Federal army took position on the main height, a mile or so in front.

General Lee soon arrived with the main army, and soon afterwards detached Floyd's command to Cotton Mountain, on the south bank of the Kanawa, at the Falls, where the Federal base of operations was located. By this movement General Lee threatened the enemy's communications, while Floyd's advanced position was connected with the rear by the main road south of New River. To reach that road, which runs by Princeton, Raleigh Court-house and Fayette Court-house, he had to cross New River at Pack's Ferry, and this he effected on a beautiful October day, as portrayed in the picture. The artist made a sketch in colors at the time, and has therefore given a truthful and exquisite picture from nature.

The varied autumnal tints on the mountains, and the reflection in the water, will be recognized by every one who has enjoyed the mountain scenery of the Alleghanies at that season. Washington painted two other pictures illustrating scenes of the same expedition. It is fair to suppose that Rosecrans's retreat without offering battle was owing to Floyd's position forty miles in his rear. That closed the memorable campaign of West Virginia, which had begun and continued with disaster, and left General Lee with only the future out of which to carve his great reputation.

What is Education?

Equity.]

To find out from knowledge that mankind knows nothing. This sounds not only parodoxical but somewhat like the remark of Epimenides, the Cretan, who said that all Cretans were liars, consequently as he was a Cretan himself he was a liar, and therefore all Cretans were not liars; therefore he was not a liar; therefore all Crotans were liars, and so on. What is meant is this—that the more a man learns the more his power to realize how little he knows increases. The amount of human items to be met with who seem to think that the mere fact of their saying that such and such a man or book is good or bad, makes it so, is truly marvelous.

Or there are other intelligent ignoramuses who always insist on anything or any name or expression of which they have not heard being out of the common, and infrequent; whereas in others' walks it may be a household expression. Nor is there so much difference in the education of nationalities as some would have us suppose. In cosmopolitan society of a high grade there is a free masonry of education, and to be really in such society, and of it, it is imperative for a man to be familiar with most topics, places and expressions, or, if he is not, to hold his tongue and learn.

Education is a matter of degrees, but the worst form of education is that which fails to give discrimination, and only leaves the half-informed mind conscious of the superiority of his knowledge over that of all whom he may meet. There are none so ignorant as those who won't learn, and your really educated man never says "I know," or "I never heard of it, and therefore it can't be common;" but he marks down his lack of knowledge, and learns how little he knows.

The Family Recorder.

Chicago Tribune.]

"That," said the quiet little woman, as she was showing her guest over the house, "is my hall phonograph and family recorder-taker. My husband and my sons all talk into it when they come home at night, and each has to give the hour at which he comes in."

"But mightn't they give the wrong hour?" asked the visitor.

"Oh, yes; but I don't care about that particularly," said the little woman carelessly, "It shows me their condition, and that's what I want, you know. Now you stick those little things in your ears, and I'll turn the switch and we'll see what the report is this morning."

The visitor followed instructions, and then the little woman asked her if she saw the value of it? She said most emphatically that she did. Then the little woman took the report herself, and she grew red in the face as the machine began:

"It'sh two g. m., 'n' I'm glad of it! Whoopee e-e! Fuller'n a goat and had more fun than a box 'o monkeys! Whoopla, Maria, wow-w! I'll bust"——

Then she shut the machine off and said faintly:

"George must be playing a joke on me."

There was more sarcasm than sincerity in the tone of the visitor as she replied, coldly:

"I presume so." Then she added: "But I wouldn't put the family recorder on exhibition."

Coarse Grain.

The statement of a Western farmer that he has been trying forty years to find the most profitable methods of storing and feeding coarse feed and grain, and is not sure he has yet succeeded, is worthy of note as showing the difficulties with which the live-stock owner is obliged to contend. It might also furnish a much-needed lesson in modesty to some would-be instructors whose years are few and whose theoretical knowledge is considerably more extensive than their actual experience.

IT being made to appear to the satisfaction of the Court by affidavit, that a cause of action exists in favor of the plaintiff against the defendants J. M. Hagy and W. A. Levering, partners, under firm of Hagy & Co., for the sum of $500 due by their acceptance of draft drawn on them, for value, in favor of plaintiff by defendant H. W. Steinhilper, in his own name and as Star Lumber Company, at 30 days after date, June 20th, 1891, duly presented for payment, not paid, and protested for non payment; and that the plaintiff is entitled to recover said sum over and above all counter-claims known to plaintiff; and that this court has jurisdiction of the subject of this action; that summons has been issued and served upon H. W. Steinhilper by the Sheriff of Cumberland County, N. C., who returns that J. M. Hagy and W. A. Levering are not to be found in this county; that the said Hagy and Levering are non residents of the State and cannot after due diligence be found in the State, but have property in this State and County, subject to Attachment, to-wit: lumber; and that an Attachment has been issued in this cause returnable on Monday, of November Term next, of this Court, being the 16th of November, 1891, and has been levied on said property in the possession of defendant David Gibb, agent of his co-defendants, at Manchester, in this county; and that the non-resident defendants, J. M. Hagy and W. A. Levering have, or claim to have an interest in said property.

On motion of plaintiff, it is ordered by the Court, that the service be made by publication in the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER, once a week for six weeks, for J. M. Hagy and W. A. Levering to appear and answer or demur to the complaint in this cause, at the Court-House in Fayetteville, N. C., at November Term next, commencing the 16th of November, 1891.

Done at office in Fayetteville, N. C. this 8th day of September, 1891.

FAYETTEVILLE & ALBEMARLE R. R.

On the 27th of October, prox., the question of a subscription of $20,000 by Cross Creek, and $10,000 by Seventy-First township to the capital stock of the Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad Company will be submitted to the qualified tax-payers and voters of the above townships for ratifiation or rejection.

With no other object in view than the advancement of Fayetteville's material interests, and of the country through which it is proposed the road shall run, and the rapid development of the hidden resources of a virgin country, extending through parts of Cumberland, Moore and Stanly and Montgomery, we urge the people of Cross Creek township and Seventy-First to exert every means at their command to secure this small subscription to this very important enterprise—and thus secure the advantages and blessings of railway connection with the whole outside world.

Elsewhere, in the issue of to-day's paper, a correspondent argues well and concisely the early building of the Fayetteville & Albemarle R. R., and our readers in Cross Creek as well as Seventy-First should give the article in question a close perusal, and arouse themselves in accordance with its importance.

Report of Alliance Committee.

For the Observer |

CROSS CREEK ALLIANCE, No. 111.

Mr. President:

The committee you appointed to visit the crops of the fifteen members of our Alliance who wished to compete for the prize we offered for the best general crop are now ready to report.

On August 10th, we commenced our duty by meeting at Bro. J. C. Vaughn's. While the committee think that it is almost invidious to make comparison, yet there are some crops of corn and some of cotton that need especial notice. After going through Bro. Vaughn's crop, which is good throughout, we especially wish to mention his potato and corn crop, which is as fine as we have seen on the sand-hills since the war. Then we visited Sister McIntosh's farm, which demonstrates the fact that woman is not only the stay of the moral and social status of society, but she is man's equal in directing the plow; then to Bros. Clark's, Ruffin Vaughn's, W. A. Huske's, McQueen's, W. J. Nance's, W. B. Jackson's, Stephen Bean's, and the committee says without fear of contradiction that portions of each one of these brother's crops will compare favorably with the crops of any Brother of North Carolina. We then adjourned to Bro W. W. Huske's where, after visiting and enjoying the company of that gallant soldier and gentleman, Maj. Wright Huske, we were ushered into the dining-hall, where we met that hospitable and incomparable Sister, Mrs. Huske, who sat at the head of her table, which literally groaned with the weight of the good things of this world. After lightening that weight and spending an hour in the flashes of wit from the horny-handed sons of toil, we visited the Brother's beautiful herd of cattle he has for his dairy—they with his improved machinery, fine truck, cotton, ensilage and small fruit, show him to be a farmer of the progressive order. We then finished up our first day's work at Bro. Smith's after being shown many kindnesses by himself and noble sister, his wife. We walked over his crop and, in our opinion, the truckers of New Berne and the cotton planters of the Mississippi bottoms will have to improve or he will take their laurels from them. We then adjourned to meet at Bro. Thos. H. McLean's on the 12th, which we did. From there we went to Bro. J. B. Huske's. After being refreshed with water melons weighing about 60 pounds each, went over his crop, and found it very creditable, but we wish to especially compliment him on beating Hyde county on corn. From there we visited Bro. Murray McPherson whose crop proves him to be a wide awake and progressive young farmer. By request we then went to the farm of Bro. John Owen. He has demonstrated the fact that it is not the land but the man that makes the farmer. From there we went to the hospitable and beautiful country home of Bro. J. M. Pearce. After delighting our eyes with his neatly kept, profitable and beautiful vineyard and seeing his other very creditable crop were invited to the house, when with his usual hospitality, each one of us received a basket of fine, delicious grapes of many varities. The next thing is too good to keep: his wine cellar was thown open and all went down except one brother and he looked mighty disconsolate as the rest went down singing in their hearts:

"A little wine is a dangerous thing,
Drink deep or touch not this Baccheus spring."

We then drove to Bro. J. M. Williams's beautiful and thrifty farm. After refreshing ourselves with cider; Brethren, don't understand we all bathed in it, for we had cool, clear, sand-hill water for that purpose. We were then invited out to dinner, presided over by that excellent lady and splendid house-keeper, Mrs. J. M. Williams. After doing justice to the sumptuous and bountiful spread, we went out to view his magnificent crop. The committee take pleasure in awarding to Bro. Williams the prize on his individual crop, as being the best general one in corn, cotton, potatoes, sugar cane and garden. We did this after visiting Bro. George Ward, whose crop is very creditable. Bro. W. D. Smith then invited the committee and other brethren present to dine with him on the following Thursday. We went and wish we could tell you of all the kindness and hospitality shown us by the brother and sister whose every pulsation of their heart's beats for the grand and glorious principles of our noble order. The brother's dinner-time came; and, on entering the dining-hall, we felt as if all our troubles had departed for there, at least, peace and plenty reigned. After going through and doing justice to four courses, felt like we would not object to being on the committee next year.

Mr. President, in conclusion, the committee wish to extend their thanks to each and every brother and sister for their uniform kindness.

Just how an alterative medicine cleanses the system is an open question; but that Ayer's Sarsaparilla does produce a radical change in the blood is well attested on all sides. It is everywhere considered the best remedy for blood disorders.

"Two Souls with but a Single Thought."

As they sat side by side, they sighed, "Oh, my idol!" he said, and then idled. "Dear Luke," said she as she looked, "I will wed thee if thou wilt," and he wilted. The honeymoon passed in an excess of joy. Excess in eating rich food brings indigestion, sick headache, and frequent attacks of dizziness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure all these. They are tiny, sugar-coated, and easy to swallow. No other preparation compares with them as a Liver Pill. They are guaranteed, and one is a dose.

Here Lies!

Epitaphy is a demoralizing kind of taffy. It appears on the tombstone, and eulogizes the dead almost to the very stars. The usual method of beginning, is: "Here lies." Very suggestive, for the lies are frequently quite astonishing—almost enough so to both amuse and amaze the dead of whom they are written. A truthful epitaph, in many instances, would be: "Here lies one who omitted to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery." If sick and suffering, and dreading premature death, test the potent remedy. It cures all chronic, liver, blood and lung diseases, as biliousness, skin and scalp diseases, scrofulous sores and swellings, salt rheum, tetter, erysipelas and even scrofula of the lungs (or Consumption), if taken in time.

CONFIRMED.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers the California Fig Syrup Company.

ANOTHER SPECIALTY.

Those who have in contemplation a visit to the "Land of the Sky" or to the Seashore, and all other persons, will find a big bargain in Trunks of all sizes and kinds. These Trunks will be on exhibition from and after to-day, just across the street in the Moore store. They will be sold at a sacrifice, as I have no room to keep them, and intend giving up the trunk business.

A BOON TO THE SICK.

Dr. King's Royal Germetner is endorsed by Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, pastor First Baptist Church, Atlanta, Ga., who says: "It is a great remedy." Rev. Sam P. Jones says: "I wish every poor suffering wife had access to that medicine." Thousands of others attest its virtues. Fifty gallons are drunk in Atlanta daily, where it is performing remarkable cures. It removes the cause of disease and builds up from the first dose. Send stamp for full particulars, certificates of wonderful cures, etc., to King's Royal Germetner Co., Atlanta, Ga. IT CURES WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS. Price, $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. Can be sent by express C. O. D. if your druggist cannot supply you.

Guaranteed Cure for La Grippe.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell you Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds upon this condition: If you are afflicted with La Grippe and will use this remedy according to directions, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We make this offer because of the wonderful success of Dr. King's New Discovery during last season's epidemic. Have heard of no case in which it failed. Try it. Trial bottles free at B. E. Sedberry & Son's Drug Store. Large size 50c. and $1.00.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive you have a Bilious Look, if your stomach be disordered you have a Dyspeptic Look, and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched Look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and Tonic; acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at B. E. Sedberry & Son's Drug Store, 50c. per bottle.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

OPEN LETTER
No. 8.

To the Citizens of Fayetteville and Surrounding Country.

From the reliability and popularity of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee, I respectfully ask your attention to the following letters of endorsement by parties who have tested this time-tried Company:

J. H. McADEN, Pres't. J. R. HOLLAND, Cashier.
C. N. G. BUTT, Ass't Cashier.
MERCHANTS' AND FARMERS' NATIONAL BANK.
No. 1781.
CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 24, 1890.

I regard the Northwestern Mutual as one of the best companies in existence. I think it without exception one of the soundest organizations and the best for the policy-holder. I now hold three policies in this company, and would not change them for any other. My dividends are much larger than in any other companies in which I carry life insurance, and my insurance as safe in this as any other. The affairs of the company are safely and conservatively managed; they pay promptly and are exceedingly fair and liberal with their policy-holders. J. H. McADEN,

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Agency for Virginia Springs and Other Mineral Waters.
RICHMOND, Va., May 9th, 1890.

Messrs. John B. Cary & Son, Richmond, Va.:

GENTLEMEN:—I have three policies in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, aggregating $20,000 insurance; the first taken in 1884. I am entirely satisfied with the results, which have exceeded my expectations in regard to dividends. In comparing these with my dividends on policies in other companies, I have no hesitation in giving preference to the Northwestern. I believe it to be as safe and well-managed as any other company. Yours truly,
JNO. B. PURCELL,
Pres. Chamber Com. of Richmond.

NORFOLK, Va., May 7th, 1890.

D. Humphreys, Esq., Agent Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Norfolk, Va.:

DEAR SIR:—You ask how I like my policies in the Northwestern Life Insurance Company. In reply I have to say that I carried one policy in that Company for eight years, and was so well pleased with it that I then took another policy for $10,000 on the twenty-year endowment plan in the same company, and that I would not exchange these policies (now covering upon my life for $20,000) for the policies of any other company I know of. I consider the company the best for the policy-holders, and do not hesitate to commend it to my friends. Very respectfully,
N. BURRUSS.

Col. John B. Cary, Richmond, Va.:

DEAR SIR:—I take pleasure in stating that I have successively taken in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company four policies aggregating $30,000, canceling $10,000 I had in other companies because results or dividends in your company were so much better.

It is needless to say that I consider the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company as standing very high and offering advantages superior to others, else I should not have given it this decided preference.
Very truly yours,
E. SCHAEFER.

ON TOP!

Harrison's Town and Country Paint was proven by the Report of the Committee of The National Association of Master Painters and Decorators, at its late meeting at Boston, to be the best of five leading brands. Compare the following analysis as then reported:

HARRISON'S.		LUCAS'S.
White Lead,	33.12 per cent.	White Lead,	none
Oxide of Zinc,	65.03 "	Oxide Zinc,	16.60
Carbonate Lime (Chalk),	none "	Carbonate Lime (Chalk),	35.40

E. SNYDER THE MAN.

A White Tramp Charged with the Third Creek Disaster.

A special to the Richmond Dispatch is as follows:

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 15.—Elias Snyder, a white man claiming Cincinnati as his birthplace, is held in Oconee jail under suspicion of having caused the wreck of the Western North Carolina train, near Statesville, in which twenty-three lives were lost.

It will be recollected that the accident was caused by the unspiking of a rail just at the end of Bostian's Bridge. The train came rushing along, and rolled down the deep embankment.

THE THREATS.

On the previous trip of the train two tramps were put off near this place. They threatened as they stepped off that they would be heard from again. Ten days ago the citizens of the northern part of Oconee county, Ga., were greatly annoyed by a stranger who seemed to live wild in the woods. Bailiff Worthen yesterday arrested the man, who shortly afterwards asked the bailiff if he had heard any news from North Carolina.

HE SMILED.

The bailiff told him of the Statesville wreck.

"Was the conductor killed?" asked the stranger, with apparent interest.

When told that he was, the stranger smiled, and said he would like to read the story. He did so as soon as he reached Worthen's house, not lifting his eyes from the page until he had finished it.

A TYPICAL TRAMP.

The stranger gave his name as Elias Snyder, from Cincinnati. He had been to Florida; got out of money at Macon; stole a ride to Atlanta, and was put on the public works there in June last for vagrancy. After leaving Atlanta, he went to North Carolina, but refuses to tell where he was while there.

The man was put in Watkinsville jail to await news from North Carolina. There is a reward outstanding from the Richmond & Danville Company of $10,000 for the wrecker.

The Tax on National Banks.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The question of the constitutionality of the tax of one-half of one per cent. imposed semi-annually on national banks is raised in a case before the courts of the District of Columbia against the Treasurer of the United States. Treasurer Nebeker has just been served with a summons, and the question will probably soon reach the Supreme Court. The bank bringing the suit is the Twin-City National Bank of New Brighton, Minn. The ground for questioning the constitutionality of the tax is that this portion of the banking act originated in the Senate. The Constitution provides that "all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives." The Senate, it is claimed, has authority to "propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills," but the contention in this case is that the banking act was not a bill to raise revenue when it reached the Senate, and conld not be transformed into such a bill by the Senate. There are other grounds upon which the tax is contested in the particular case before the court. If the case should be decided in favor of the bank it might open the way for a great multitude of suits for refund by the banks throughout the country. The statute of limitations would probably prevent the recovery of all these payments back to the organization of the national banking refund system in 1864, but it would take more than $10,000,000 to refund the taxes for the past five or six years.

The Cotton-picking Trust.

Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.]

The conflict between the "Colored Farmers' Alliance and Cotton-pickers' League" and the planters is now on, the head of the order issuing a proclamation forbidding members to pick cotton for less than $1 per 100 pounds. Messrs. Polk, Macune, Livingstone and McDowell have now a problem before them which will require all their genius to solve, unless the cold weather causes the price of cotton to rise at once to such a figure that the farmer can afford to pay the price demanded by the pickers. As these leaders claim to have appeared on earth to reconcile the irreconcilable, it will be interesting to observe their methods in dealing with the present situation. No question of politics is involved, however, and this fact may induce them to waive its consideration, leaving the pickers and the farmers to fight it out.

Generous towards the Negroes.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., September 19.—The colored people of Asheville have to thank George Vanderbilt's mother for a bona fide gift of $10,000 in cash, to be expended in the erection of a twenty-thousand-dollar Young Men's Christian Association building, for the colored, and George Vanderbilt individually for brick enough to build it. They have also to thank R. U. Garrett, of Asheville and his friends for the five-thousand-dollar lot, on which the building will stand. The building will be located in Eagle Terrace, and work on it has already begun in the same locality. A twelve-thousand dollar hotel for the colored will be built by a joint stock company. All of them reside in Asheville.

The University Monument Case.

Raleigh News and Observer.]

News is received that the case of Mr. Kirby Smith, of Goldsboro, against Dr. Kemp P. Battle, President of the University at the time the suit was instituted, and others, for damages, has been compromised in Wayne Superior Court, and the proceedings dismissed. It will be remembered that Mr. Smith was arrested on suspicion of having painted the Caldwell Monument at the Commencement two years ago, and that, having shown his innocence, he instituted suit for false arrest. The suit having been compromised, the case was dismissed.

"Othello's Occupation Gone."

State Chronicle.]

"Peg Leg" Williams, so well-known to the North Carolina negroes, was here yesterday. His occupation is gone since the legislature passed the act forbidding the removal of laborers from the State. The "exodus" is now but a memory. "Peg Leg" has had some lively experiences in this State, and some narrow escapes from damage; but he cannot be scared, and always "bobs up serenely." He did more than any other man to reduce the colored vote in North Carolina.

A Bright Outlook.

Manufacturers' Record, September 10.]

The general business and financial condition of the whole country continues to improve, and the South must necessarily share in this increasing prosperity. The enormous exports of grain for the last two months, to which the usual fall shipments of cotton will now be added, have already turned the tide of foreign trade this way, and gold is now being imported in large quantities, with prospects of heavy imports during the next few months. There are already signs of improvement in the iron and the cotton goods trade, while the railroads of the country are taxed to their utmost capacity to handle their immense traffic. The South has commenced to feel the benefit of this change from the depression of the last seven or eight months which has existed all over the world, and among the new industrial enterprises reported in this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record are:

The contract at $302,000 for the power-house of a new cable-road at Washington; a $150,000 granite quarrying company and a $75,000 brownstone company in North Carolina; a $150,000 sugar refinery company in Louisiana; a $100,000 cotton compress company in Greenville, Miss.; a $30,000 distillery company in Kentucky; a $50,000 lumber company at Savannah; a $50,000 electric company at Baltimore; a $100,000 coal and coke company in West Virginia; a $50,000 waterworks company at Orange City, Fla., a $100,000 phosphate company at Greenwood, S. C.; a $100,000 cotton-seed oil-mill company at Alexandria, La.; a $100,000 phosphate company in Florida; a $20,000 land improvement company in Macon; two $500,000 improvement companies in West Virginia; a $25,000 improvement company in Virginia, a $50,000 ice manufacturing company at Algiers, La., etc.

Southern Exposition.

The management of the exposition has published the following schedule of rates of admission to the exposition:

Season Tickets—Good for 25 admissions, one each day: Gentlemen, $10.00; ladies, $5.00; children, $2.50.

The above is less than 20 cents admission for gentlemen, less than 10 cents for ladies and less than 5 cents for children.

Rates for one month—Either October or November: Gentlemen, $6.00; ladies, $3.00; children, $1.50.

Rates for one week—Gentlemen, $2.00; ladies, $1.50; children, 75 cents.

The rates for a single admission will be 50 cents for gentlemen, 50 cents for ladies and 25 cents for children.

These tickets are issued very low, are not transferable, and are good for one admission daily during the time they are issued for. They are what are known as photograph tickets.

The holder has to have attached to the ticket his or her tin-type. This is done to protect the exposition from the fraud that could be practiced in buying these tickets, and in anyone using them. Unless this plan is universally adopted the low-priced ticket cannot be placed on sale. The addition of a tin-type will not cost more than 20 or 25 cents.

☞ The Democrats are hopeful of carrying Pennsylvania. Philadelphia has always been a stumbling-block to them, but this year circumstances appear propitious. Under the new registration law there are 11,518 fewer names on the list of voters than there were last September. Under the old law there would have been an increase of about 15,000, so that the new registration law has apparently cut off 26,000 illegal voters.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE.

I WISH TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF the people of this section to the fact that my mammoth Gin House will soon be completed, and will be equipped with the best 60-saw gin made; also feeder and condenser. The house is beautifully located on my farm, one-fourth of a mile north of Lee's Cross Roads—almost direct between here and Dunn, a fine cotton market. I will be able to gin your cotton in a few weeks, and you can take it on to town, and I will pay market price for your seed. I very kindly ask the people to give me their first bale, and should they not be satisfied I ask no more. I will gin for the 25th, and give your cotton every care in my power. My house will be well arranged for caring for several bales at once. Satisfaction guaranteed. I am yours very truly.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Wrenn—Jones.

Married in the 1st Baptist Church in this city on Wednesday, 23rd inst., Rev. W. B. Oliver, pastor of the church officiating, Mr. J. S. Wrenn, of Sumter, S. C., to Miss Lizzie Jones, of Pittsboro, N. C. After receiving many hearty congratulations, the happy bride and groom boarded the Charleston train for a southern tour.

A Gratifying Increase.

The Fayetteville Graded and Normal School opened on Monday last with 237 pupils—27 more than answered to the roll-call on the opening day of last year—with Prof. B. C. McIver Superintendent, assisted by a full corps of capable and well-trained teachers. Other names are being daily added to the roll, and the promise for the scholastic year is encouraging to the friends of the school.

Resignation Called For.

For constant and persistent neglect of his official duties as Postmaster in Fayetteville, the bondsmen of Mr. D. F. Wemyss have notified the Postmaster-General and authorities at Washington that they will no longer be responsible for his conduct and the administration of the affairs of the office, and have recommended as his successor, Mr. W. P. Wemyss, the present assistant Postmaster at this place.

Bad Conduct.

Mr. J. Marshall Williams, of Seventy-first, was in town Menday, and reports a band of ex-convicts, who have been liberated at the stockade in that vicinity, as having committed numerous depredations of various kinds. We have more than once called attention to the exceeding laxity of the State authorities in the care of their convicts; and, especially in the lack of care when these men—naturally lawless—are discharged.

Dr. Wilson's Concluding Sermon.

On Monday evening last Dr. Wilson delivered the last of several sermons which he has preached before the congregation of the Presbyterian Church. We consider Dr. Wilson a very strong man in the pulpit, for his Presbyterianism is that of the cultured theological student; but, better than all, we regard him—from his tenderness of heart and his power of getting at each individual soul of the members of his fold—as a very strong pastor. That church is fortunate which now possesses Dr. Wilson: the church which secures him will have added strength to itself.

Special Rates.

Capt. W. E. Kyle, General Passenger Agent of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, publishes the following special rates for the occasions named:

Evangelist Fife's Meeting at Lumberton, N. C.: for return trip tickets to Fayetteville, $3.35—tickets on sale from Sept. 24th to October 6th inclusive.

Southern States Exposition, at Raleigh, N. C.: round trip tickets from Rural Hall, $4.75; Sanford, $2.00; Maxton, $5.00; Wilmington, $5.15; Mt. Airy, $5.80; Greensboro, $3.35; Fayetteville, $3.20; Winston, $4.35—tickets on sale Sept. 29th to Nov. 30th; good to return until and including December 3rd.

Buxton for Circuit Judge.

In view of the contemplated promotion of Judge Seymour, of the United States Circuit Court, to the Supreme Court bench, a petition has been circulated in this city that Hon. R. P. Buxton may take Judge Seymour's present position, if the change is made, and Judge Buxton's friends, irrespective of party, have signed the petition in large numbers. This petition will show to Mr. Harrison that Judge Buxton is held in high esteem where best known—and the President could not make a Republican appointment more generally gratifying in this State, or which would so completely satisfy both parties as to the new occupant of the Circuit Court bench.

"Blind Tom."

The announcement is elsewhere made that "Blind Tom" will give one of his remarkable performances at Williams Hall next Saturday evening.

"Blind Tom" is perhaps the most extraordinary instance extant of "music unadorned"—an automaton at the instrument, but a marvelous automaton. Audiences have been electrified, amazed, at his unexplained powers of conception, expression and execution—and still people have been forced to go away, content with simple wonder of this prodigy.

Those who are present at Williams Hall on Saturday evening will appreciate the force of the above better than by the mere reading of these words.

A Change.

Mr. J. G. W. Cobb, who has had the management and control of the Postal Telegraph Office in this city since its establishment here about two years ago, has sent in his resignation, to take effect on the first of October. Recognizing his fitness for the place, the many friends of Mr. George R. Dye have petitioned the authorities in Richmond to have him succeed Mr. Cobb in the office of the Postal-Telegraph and Cable Company. Mr. Cobb is a fine manipulator of the wires, and during his stay here has several times demonstrated his fitness for his chosen work by transporting messages from Fayetteville to and from northern cities within an hour's time, whereas it would have ordinarily required a day over the Western Union.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

An Eloquent Address and a Very Enjoyable Entertainment.

At 7:30 o'clock the members of the Knights of Pythias met at their Castle Hall; and, being marshaled in line, marched in very imposing body to Williams Hall. The members of the order were assigned to their seats; and, in spite of the spacious dimensions of our beautiful public hall, it was a "tight squeeze"—for rarely has Williams Hall accommodated a larger and, we are glad to say, a more cultured audience.

On the stand were grouped prominent officials of the Order of the Knights of Pythias, whose rank we do not know, and therefore we will not name the distinguished members on the stage. After the opening prayer by Grand Prelate Lyons, of Gibson's Station, the orator of the evening was introduced by Mr. H. L. Cook, whose presentation was simple, chaste and in very good taste.

We do not intend a critique of the address of Dr. Hodges, because it is our intention to lay it before our readers in full next week; but we cannot permit that period to lapse without giving expression to the pleasure with which we listened to it. The subject before the speaker was a beautiful one, and he treated it beautifully; it was an historic one, and he treated it historically; it was a tender one—love of brother for brother—and he treated it tenderly, with the beautiful significance which attaches to the story of Damon and Pythias; it was one fraught with the possibilities of a grand charity—its best aspect—and there he best treated it. Dr. Hodges has an assured position as one of the most prominent young physicians of the State: this ought to stimulate and gratify his best ambition; but, to use vernacular, he has the "makings" in him of a very strong, ornate and beautiful speaker.

After the address the invited guests repaired to the banquet prepared for them at the Overbaugh House—of which good taste only requires us to say that they saw to it that the brother wanted not—nor the sister. It was such an entertainment as only an order of a very high-class could have furnished; and, in conclusion, the perfect success of the entertainment, from first to last, makes the Knights of Pythias not only respected but beloved by our people.

The Knights of Pythias and the community were indebted for the fine music of the band before the address. It has become needless to praise the music of this most admirable corps.

Winston's Gain is Fayetteville's Loss.

The entire community will share with us in the sincere regret that Col. T. H. Sutton has decided to change his place of residence to cast his fortunes in the future with the live people of Winston-Salem, having been elected to and accepted the place of General Manager of the Inside Land and Improvement Company of the wide-awake "Twin-City." Here Mr. Sutton has resided for many years, where he has built up a very lucrative law practice, and in more ways than one given abundant evidence of his ability as a lawyer, his usefulness as a citizen, with an energy and will power that never tires, as well as a zeal that never wanes. Whether in the councils of his party or on the hustings, his voice has been heard in behalf of the Democratic party, and as an evidence of his popularity in Cumberland he has three times in succession represented the county in the lower house of the General Assembly of North Carolina, receiving an increased majority at the hands of his fellow-citizens with each recurring election, and came within three votes of being elected Speaker of the last House of Representatives. Upon the selection of Mr. Sutton the Inside Land and Improvement Company is to be congratulated, and to his new field of operation, he carries the warm friendship and hearty good wishes of a host of friends from not only Fayetteville, but all parts of the State for a successful career, such as his energies and talents eminently entitle him.

For the present, we are glad to learn, Col. Sutton's most interesting family will remain residents of Fayetteville, at least, until he can erect a suitable dwelling in Winston-Salem. The law firm of Sutton & Cook will continue as before until all the affairs and business entrusted to the firm are settled. Truly Winston's gain is Fayetteville's loss.

Election Ordered.

Upon the application of twenty-five of the qualified voters and tax-payers of Cross Creek and Seventy-First townships, the county commissioners, in special session here last Saturday, ordered an election to be held October 27th, 1891, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of the townships named above the question of a subscription by the former of $20,000 and $10,000 by the latter, to the capital stock of the Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad Company. The commissioners also ordered a new registration of the voters; and below we give the registrars and judges, for the various voting precincts, as follows:

REGISTRARS.

Cross Creek—D. N. McLean.

Seventy-first—Ray's—W. J. McCraney.

" " Newton's—J. A. McPherson.

JUDGES.

Cross Creek—Chas. Glover, W. D. Gaster, John Ochiltree, Geo. H, Henderson, Seventy-first—Ray's--J. A. Graham, A. A. Ray, Duncan McNeill, Evander Ray.

Newton's--D. McN. Ray, Jesse Newton, Amos Shaw, Burton McArthur.

Hon. Geo. M. Rose and wife, Messrs. A. Moore and G. A. Burns were among those who attended the Goldsboro Fair last week. Mr. Burns succeeded in securing several fine race horses for the Cumberlond Fair.

Where the Battle Raged 30 Years Ago.

A few days since Capt. J. B. Smith, the efficient sheriff of this county, and himself a gallant soldier in defense of the South, received the following letter—so fraught in every line with the tragedy of history that naught of comment by us can add to its force:

Mr. Jas. B. Smith, Sheriff, Fayetteville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—I desire to know the whereabouts of Capt. B. Robinson, who was promoted from 1st Lieutenant March 31, 1862, to Captain of Company A, in the 5th Regt. N. C. T. To be more explicit, and say what I desire with him or with some of his family: Capt. E. Berkeley, our Superintendent, in Richmond, Va., was in my office yesterday morning, and said that, while his family was in the mountains of Virginia this summer, his young son found an old sword in the Bull Run Mountains, about half way between the Thoroughfare and Aldie Gap. It was very badly rusted, and the scabbard had rotted off, leaving only the brass bands, on which was engraved the following inscription:

Capt. B. Robinson,
5th Regt.,
N. C. T.,
C. S. A.

I called on Col. Thos. S. Kenan this morning, and he directed me to write you, and probably you could give me some information about it. I am sure, if Capt. B. Robinson is alive, he would like to have this old sword, and, if not, no doubt his family would prize it very highly for its history. It has, no doubt, lain right where it was found for nearly thirty years. Mr. Berkeley requested me to find the owner, and, if you will aid me, I will be very glad to deliver it to them.

Yours very truly,
H. W. MILLER,
Second Vice-Pres. R. & D. R. R. Co.

Benj. Robinson entered service as 2nd Lieutenant in Capt. P. J. Sinclair's Co. A. of the 5th Regt. N. C. T., commanded by the distinguished Duncan K. MacRae—a regiment which enjoyed the enviable distinction of being designated as the "Fighting Fifth." He was promoted to the 1st Lieutenancy and then to the Captaincy of the company, in which position he served with conspicuous bravery until so severely wounded as to be incapacitated for active service. We doubt not that the ambulance surgeon, in dressing the wound, removed the sword, which was subsequently forgotten.

Time has possessed itself of the soldier's blade, and its corroding tooth has dimmed its brightness; but it is stainless still, for no devoted country ever put sword in braver hands.

Carnival of the Bovines.

That heading is a little tautological—but let it go. Surely Homer's "ox-eyed" Minerva was looking down upon Ingram's beef procession the other day. Mayhap it was not the helmet of Jove from which this "Pallas sprang full-panoplied;" but the driver of the grandest old producer of "porter-house" and "roast"—"larding the lean earth as he walked"—wore a Roman Centurion's helmet—strictly in honor of the occasion. Ingram—shepherd (?) of this flock of magnificent mountain beef—like a prudent general, brought up the rear to repel invasion or cut off retreat, mounted on a steed, which, like Don Quixote's Rosinante, "showed both sides a gridiron"—possibly as an advertisement that those who were not equal to "tenderloin" might afford rib-beef. There was music to the "stately stepping of the milky herd," and we are only surprised that a bill-of-fare was not pasted on the side of each candidate for the slaughter-house.

"History repeats itself," and Mr. Ingram's demonstration reminds old people of Tom Drake in his palmy days as a Fayetteville butcher.

A Desperate Prisoner.

Chas. Dixon, a prisoner in the jail of this county, made a desperate "break" for liberty last Saturday morning, assaulting deputy-sheriff W. R. Clark, and dealing him a fearful blow with a heavy piece of wood. In the attack, however, Mr. Clark—who is a very determined, courageous man—though bleeding profusely from his wound, retained presence of mind to bring his assailant to terms with two pistol-shots, one of which took effect in the hand. In the meantime, Mr. Clark had dealt Dixon a painful blow on the forehead with the bunch of heavy keys of the jail which he held in his hand, from which the mutinous prisoner bled profusely, and quietude was restored.

We learn that Sheriff Smith will very properly discipline Dixon by shackling him to a staple in the centre of his cell.

List of Letters.

Following is the list of unclaimed letters remaining in the Fayetteville postoffice September 21st, 1891:

Ellen Bramble, Hattie E. Bains, Sam'l J. Bryan, Jr., Virginia Craig, Col. Wm. Lee Davidson, Francis Evans, Sallie Evans, Fay. M. & L. Co., J. B. Ganason, Mrs. J. L. Green, Mr. Guslanair, George Hill (col), A. H. Hines, Emit Hicks, J. F. Johnson, Annie Jane Kelly, John McCoy, Katie McCall, J. McKee, H. J. Neyle (col), Dobbin Page, T. J. Parker (2), S. F. Peacock, Lizzie Shaw, Francis Steadmond, Roddy Springs, Betsie Underwood, Leoner Watters, Polly Webb, D. T. Williams, Nancy Williams, Sue Woodall.

Persons calling for above letters will say advertised. D. F. WEMYSS, P. M.

Mrs. H. McD. Robinson has returned after a most pleasant visit of several weeks to friends and relatives in her native county, Duplin, and the seashore.

Evangelist Fife will begin a series of meetings at Lumberton next Sunday. The Robesonian reports extensive preparations for the Evangelist by the people of that town.

Mrs. Capt. E. T. B. Glenn, of Smithville, Georgia, having spent several days with the family of her father, Col J A Pemberton, of this city, left yesterday for Winston, to visit relatives.

The Fayetteville & Albemarle R. R.

For the Observer.]

MESSRS. EDS:—The county commissioners having ordered an election for October 27th, the citizens of Cross Creek and Seventy-First townships will then have it in their power to say whether or not they want this great enterprise.

It seems to me that the question rather is: Can we afford to let this opyortunity slip—can we do without it? If the road is to be built 10 miles from Aberdeen in this direction it would leave the citizens of Seventy-First township cut off and without railroad facilities; on the other hand, a subscription of $10,000 by that township would be a good business investment, for it is estimated that there would be a mileage of at least 15 miles in this township, with a tax valuation of $6,000 per mile, which, at one per cent., would yield an annual tax to that township of $900, while the interest on the bonds could in no case exceed $700—thus leaving a margin for a sinking fund of $200 each year, with the prospect of that being increased to $300, with the issue of 6 per cent. interest-bearing bonds.

What safe, prudent business man would hesitate, in his own affairs, to embark in an enterprise on such fair terms, and with such a safe business outlook as this?

Now as to Cross Creek township: there would be less mileage of track, but the vital interests of Fayetteville depend upon the road being built—and that without delay. It would penetrate a territory now undeveloped and without railroads, carrying our merchants among a people that heretofore traded with Fayetteville and are anxious to do so again. The people of Stanly and Montgomery would gladly renew their commercial relations with the merchants of Fayettevi le, if the opportunity offered.

This road would develop vast quantities of timber land, going through fine farming and mineral sections in the up-country beyond, and would not be paralleled by any road within 25 miles on either side.

Trunk or through lines sound pleasant and large. But do they build up a town? Through freight and through travel never stop in the middle of the journey, except, perhaps, to rest, but never to buy goods or make an investment.

It is the local road—that pierces the timber, farming and mineral lands, having its terminus at Fayetteville—that we need, and we need it now!

The Chadbourn R. R. is now near Lumberton, is nearing Red Springs, and is intended to cut across the territory into the very section intended to be occupied by the Fayetteville & Albemarle R. R. It that is done the Fayetteville & Albemarle R. R. will be a dead letter.

This is the auspicious time. Let the people seriously consider the situation, and promptly apply the remedy.

CITIZEN.

Second Annual S. S. Convention.

Reported for the Fayetteville Observer.

The second annual S. S. Convention of Quewhiffle township met at Sandy Grove church August 27th, '91. The President, D. K. McDuffie, Esq., opened the convention with devotional exercises.

The opening address was delivered by Mr. Daniel Campbell, of Moore county, after which the following officers were elected:

J. C. Currie, President.
D. J. Patterson, Vice-President.
M. McLeod, Treasurer.
A. C. Monroe, Secretary.

Some short but interesting talks were made by Messrs. M. McLeod, J. C. Currie, D. J. Patterson and Mr. Wicker. The convention then adjourned for dinner.

In the afternoon, services were resumed by a song service, followed with an address to the children, by Mr. Campbell.

Mr. C. H. Graham, of Seventy-first, spoke of the S. S. teacher as a shepherd, and was followed dy Mr. A. D. McGill, who, after paylng a beautiful tribute to the Scotch Settlers of the sand-hills, delivered an able and interesting discourse which was listened to with marked attention and greatly enjoyed by everybody.

The convention then adjourned to meet at Sandy Grove Church, on the last Thursday in August, A. D., 1892.

Southern Pines Items.

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C.,
September 21, 1891.

The brick celler and foundation for the Hamlin five-room cottage, at the corner of Penn Avenue and Front Street, are completed. All the timber for the frame is on the spot, and carpenters will soon begin work.

The Union Sunday-school enjoyed a picnic on Saturday, the 19th inst. They economized time and strength by going only a short distance, and found appropriate grounds that furnished shade and facilities for the necessary swings, ball-games and other adjuncts of a well-regulated gathering of the character.

Work on the Mission Chapel has been suspended for an indefinite period, and the carpenters engaged thereon have moved away from town.

The estate of the late W. R. Raymond will be improved by planting more grapes this fall and winter.

Rev. Mr. Barrett, of Franklinton, will preach at the school-house on Friday night, the 25th inst., at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

L. A. Young and family will spend the months of October and November at the exhibition in Raleigh, catering to the wants of visitors.

Jeff Haggerty, a colored "cunning worker in metals," has started a forge near the planing mill. SNELL.

People and their Movements.

Mayor A B. Pearsall, of Red Springs, spent a day or two here last week.

Mr. E. N. Robeson, a prominent citizen of Bladen, was a welcome visitor at this office last week.

Dr. J. W. McNeill left Monday on a business trip to New York, and will possibly not return before the first of next week.

Mr. Hal Jones, a gallant soldier of Dixon's Battery during the war—with whom we "touched shoulders" in some of the warmest days of a very warm period for Southern men—made a business visit to Fayetteville this week.

She was Willing to Give Up All.

When Queen Elizabeth of England found death approaching her she cried despairingly, "All my possessions for a moment of time!" There are wealthy ladies to-day, the world over, who would gladly exchange their riches for sound health. Many are made well and happy by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a never-failing cure for diseases so common to women. As a corrective for all functional weaknesses it is of universal repute among the sex, and thousands of pale, worn-out, enfeebled victims have been changed into vigorous women and girls by its use. Guaranteed to give satisfaction or price refunded. Druggists have it.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Notice of Election.

In pursuance of an order made by the Board of County Commissioners of Cumberland county, in meeting assembled on the 19th day of September, 1891, notice is hereby given that an election will be held in Cross Creek and Seventy-First townships, in the county of Cumberland, on Tuesday, the 27th day of October, 1891, in pursuance of provision of Chapter 239, Laws 1889, and Chapter 502, Laws 1891, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of said Cross Creek and Seventy-First townships the question of creating a bonded indebtedness, upon the township of Cross Creek in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, and upon the township of Seventy-First the sum of ten thousand dollars, as a subscription, by each township, of said sums to the capital stock of the Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad Company, said bonds to run for a period of ten years from the 1st of January next after the date of their issue, to bear six per cent. interest, and redeemable after one year from the date of their issue.

Those in favor of said indebtedness will vote "subscription." Those opposed to said indebtedness will vote "against subscription."

Said election to be held under the rules and regulations of the general election laws of the Sate, at the usual voting places in the said Cross Creek and Seventy-First townships.

A new registration is ordered in each of the above-named townships, and those desiring to vote for or against said indebtedness will register as by law required.

NOTICE.
TAXES!

Please read the following law carefully, and remember that I am compelled to obey the same, and every man in the county will have to conform to this law.

Laws of 1889, Chapter 218, Section 50: The Sheriff or his deputy shall attend at his office, during the months of September and November, for the purpose of receiving Taxes; he shall also in like manner attend at least one day during the month of October at some one or more places in each township, of which fifteen days' notice shall be given by advertisement at three or more public places, and in a newspaper; if one be published in the county.

Sec. 41.—Whenever the taxes shall be due and unpaid, the Sheriff shall immediately proceed to collect them, &c.

I shall endeavor to follow strictly the above laws; therefore all parties are earnestly requested to come forward and settle their taxes. I will be in my office during the months of September and November, or you will find a deputy there for the purpose of collecting taxes.

I will visit the places below for the same purpose, on the days stated during the month of October, viz:

Black River, October 12th—Rhodes's Mill.
Flea Hill, October 13th—Geddie's Gin.
Cedar Creek, October 14th—Downing's Store.
Beaver Dam, October 15th—Ballard's Mill.

The Land of the Beautiful Dead.

By the hut of the peasant where poverty weeps,
And nigh to the towers of the king
Close, close to the cradle where infancy sleeps
And joy loves to linger and sing,
Lies a garden of light full of heaven's perfume,
Where never a teardrop is shed,
And the rose and the lily are ever in bloom—
'Tis the land of the beautiful dead.

Each moment of life a messenger comes
And beckons man over the way:
Through the heart sobs of women and rolling of drums,
The army of mortals obey.
Few lips that have kissed not a motionless brow,
A face from each fireside has fled,
But we know that our loved ones are watching us now
In the land of the beautiful dead.

Not a charm that we knew 'ere the bound'ry was crossed
And we stand in the valley alone;
Not a trait that we prized in our darlings is lost,
They have fairer and lovelier grown;
As the lilies burst forth when the shadows of night
Into bondage at daybreak are led,
So they bask in the glow by the pillar of light,
In the land of the beautiful dead.

Nature.

"All things are calm and passive. Earth
Looks as if lulled upon an angel's lap
Into a breathless dewy sleep so still
That we can only say of things, they be."

The Jersey as a Dairy Cow.

Jersey Bulletin.]

Having been asked to write an article on Jersey cattle, I can but give my experience regarding their nature and habits for over thirteen years, and my deductions therefrom. As a rule they are hearty feeders; not dainty, although responding readily to liberal rations, both as to condition and produce, so much so that generous feeding is the truest economy. They are also hardy; being large and steady milkers, changes of temperature, draughts of cold winter winds or exposure to sleety storms are hurtful, as to any good cow, but they will bear a low temperature without harm, if only steady and free from draughts; in a word, a thrifty farmer's stable is all they require.

As in every breed, there are scrubs, but to get a satisfactory Jersey it is not necessary to have one of a phenomenal strain, costing a high price, but simply a good cow, such as every breeder has and will sell at a moderate price because not coming up to his standard of butter-production, but which, put to a first-class Jersey bull, will very likely produce an extra calf, and, in any event, will make one pound of first-class butter per day. There are several strains of Jerseys that are large in frame and have large calves, notably the St. Heiler and Stoke Pogis: it is not by any means true that all Jersey calves are too small to be profitable for fattening, and Jersey beef has only to be eaten to be appreciated. As to gentleness and docility I suppose there can be no question; they are nervous, sensitive creatures, full of life, but also of trust to patience and kind treatment.

Compared with the native cow as a profitable milker the average Jersey heifer at two years of age will give, as a rule, more milk than the native when she first comes in, will continue to do so through life, besides always milking at least one month nearer calving; to this is to be added the advantage in richness, it taking 25 to 30 pounds of milk from the native against 16 to 20 from the Jersey to make a pound of butter, such butter also as no other breed, not excepting even the Guernsey, will make.

Farm and Garden Notes.

Chicks should be fed every two hours until one week old.

The chicks must not be allowed to tread in the water. Dampness is fatal.

A little feed given regularly as soon as they come home at night will be a strong inducement to keep turkeys from straying off.

A crop will take from the land certain foods in excess of others, and cause it to fail, though it may not be lacking in other elements.

Where the poultry are confined it is necessary to provide plenty of gravel. A box of it should be kept where they can help themselves.

If the proper implements were used for the garden there would be less complaint of the labor required in growing vegetables for family use.

Guineas are about the only domestic fowls that can be hatched in July or August to a good advantage. Guinea hens hatched in the summer will be ready to lay next spring.

When given a good range, turkeys are less liable to be bothered with vermin than chickens. A little lard rubbed on the top of their heads and under their wings is a sufficient remedy.

One advantage with ducks is that they rarely stray away from home. When night approaches ducks usually make a start for home. Bat turkeys will go to roost wherever night overtakes them.

Turpentine for Roup.

Farm and Fireside.]

Experiments made show that the germs of roup are destroyed when brought in contact with spirits of turpentine. Turpentine, however, is a severe dose to give, even if effectual; and if too much is given it may do damage of itself. To properly prepare it, mix one part spirits of turpentine, one part kerosene and three parts glycerine in a sewing-machine oil-can, and always shake well before using. With the point of the oil-can force three drops of the mixture in each nostril, and five or six drops down the throat of the fowl twice a day. Roup is a disease that is almost incurable, being contagious, and gradually exhausts the bird instead of causing instant death. If it appears in the entire flock the labor of handling the sick birds is often more than the value of the flock; and, as roup cannot well be treated on the wholesale plan (that is, without handling the fowls), it is cheaper to clean them out, burn the carcasses, thoroughly disinfect and begin anew. The buildings should be very warm and dry.

Artificial Frost Prevention.

Artificial frost prevention is now suggested as an outgrowth of Senator Farwell's scheme for artificial rain production. Mr. L. C. Kniffen, of Chicago, has written a letter to Secretary Rusk on the subject. His theory is that clouds of artificial mists prevent the radiation of the heat from the earth. He suggests that the machinery and tools used by Colonel Dryenfurth in causing rain be tested as a means for bringing the clouds closer to the earth, and of creating a sort of fog, which will be a preventive against the ravages of frost.

☞ Expert figures make the permanent tramp population of the United States number 60,000.

P. P. P.

is recommended by physicians because they see its healthy effects all around them.

A leading physician in New York, and director of one of the large hospitals, says, February 8, 1890, he has made use of the P. P. P. sent him, and was pleased to say P. P. P. proved efficacious in a number of cases, and adds, it is no more than he should have anticipated from the satisfactory combination of such well-known drugs.

A prominent railway superintendent of Savannah (name given on application) says he was crippled by a disease in legs and arms, powerless to walk or eat without assistance, having lost the use of his limbs by rheumatism, malaria, dyspepsia, etc. Physicians here sent him to New York and they returned him here, and he was as complete a wreck as one could be and live. A course of P. P. P. has made him a well man.

P. P. P. is known among physicians in the South for its various and wonderful cures as the great blood purifier of the age.

Blood Poison

Primary, Secondary and Tertiary Syphilis, old sores, pimples, blotches, scrofula, blood and mercurial poison and skin diseases are eradicated by the use of P. P. P. Hosts of certificates are in office to show the cures in these diseases where all other medicines have failed.

Rheumatism

Inflammatory, gout, sciatic and its kindred diseases with their excruciating pains are cured by the wonderful blood-cleansing properties of P. P. P (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium).

Catarrh

Originates in scrofulous taint. P. P. P. purifies the blood, and this prevents catarrh.

For Old Sores, Skin Eruptions, Pimples, Ulcers and Syphilis, use only P. P. P., and get well and enjoy the blessing only to be derived from the use of P. P. P (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium). For sale by H. R. HORNE and A. J. COOK & CO

$3000 A YEAR! I undertake to briefly teach any fairly intelligent person of either sex, who can read and write, and who, after instruction, will work industriously, how to earn Three Thousand Dollars a Year in their own localities, wherever they live. I will also furnish the situation or employment at which you can earn that amount. No money for me unless successful as above. Easily and quickly learned. I desire but one worker from each district or county. I have already taught and provided with employment a large number, who are making over $3000 a year each. It is NEW and SOLID. Full particulars FREE. Address at once, E. C. ALLEN, Box 420, Augusta, Maine.

NOTICE!
Steam Saw Mill for Sale.

I offer for sale the KLARPP STEAM SAW MILL, located on Big Rockfish, just immediately between the C. P. & Y. V. R. R. and the Atlantic Coast Line—not exceeding 400 feet from either road. The plant consists of a 40-horse power engine and boiler, 52 inch saw, log-drag, &c.—a complete saw-mill outfit. Location unsurpassed, both for the purchase of logs and timber; excellent freight facilities, &c., thereby enabling one to use either through line for the shipment of lumber. Capacity 10,000 feet per day. Any one needing such property would do well to examine it. For terms, &c., apply to
